Trail Station Signs – Supplemental Meeting

Art Falk and his wife have volunteered to go through all the trails this winter and re-word each trail station sign to reflect the specific area that the sign will be in. This is an attempt to make the history portion of the text more brief, and to add information about the local wildlife and vegetation.

Regarding the visual elements of the sign design, an effort will be made by Mark Shipley to increase contrast and readability, while keeping a simple and effective design. Suggestions were made to try adding general locations such as Willow Creek, the Shores, etc. without cluttering the image. Street names, currently present, are a major focus of this trial revision as well. Adding a compass in the upper right hand corner is also a possible design element to add, to reiterate direction for trail users.

The committee would also like to see telephone numbers for both the Willow Lake Club and Security on each trail station. To allow for future changes though, these would be on a label instead of printed in with the rest of the sign. If and when these numbers ever change, a new label could be added without destroying the station sign.

A final sample / prototype of the signs, complete with framing, now has an ETA of Spring 2011 for review with the committee.

Meeting adjourned at 10:00 A.M.
